Introduction

Never has there been a better time to train as a mediator in India! The London School of Mediation (LSM) offers acclaimed accredited mediator training of the highest quality and repute across the globe. Our Overseas Training Program, has been delivered worldwide since 2010.

LSM offers to deliver mediation training in India where there are 20 delegates subscribing. This course will help in building a substantial cohort of mediators trained to the highest standards to promote civil/commercial mediation in India. The 5 day course is of 40 hours duration with lots of practical mediation role play designed to hone the key skills of a mediator.

Places are strictly limited and there is likely to be high demand. The course is aimed at professionals across a range of sectors from law, accountancy, property, military, business and HR.

The civil and commercial mediator training course, will be delivered to world class standards.

Course structure

Pre-course

- Three hours of pre-reading on course materials provided 14 days in advance

Training Days

- Five days of training from 0900 to 1800 daily, with about 90 minutes homework each evening. Training is interactive and discursive, practical and enjoyable. Role-plays form the core.

Assessment

- There will be supported assessment with roleplays and consolidation time throughout the course.

Examination and beyond

- An open-book exam is set on the third evening.
- If the assessments and examinations are passed then accreditation follows.
- 6 hours CPD are recommended each year to keep skills polished

The course which LSM will deliver in 2019 will once again be to the highest UK and international standards for civil and commercial mediation. The lead tutors have international reputations for excellence. Judith won the coveted Mediation Achiever of the Year Award presented in London before a major audience. This accredited course is a must for all those who have seen the future of civil litigation, justice and resolution.

Motivation

We are keen to make sure that the level of interaction and experience is as high as possible and so balance the need for teaching with emphasis on the practical side of matters. With one of our trainers having been for years closely involved with the UK Civil Mediation Council's pioneering work, we have a firm eye on what are seen as the required skill sets which we must ensure that you learn in the three days.

This course is not only about learning mediation: it is about developing all round business and vocational skills and doing so in a comfortable and convivial atmosphere where we encourage delegates to hang up any professional hats and to start to look at a fresh approach to problem solving, solution finding, negotiation, listening, and questioning in new and exciting ways. Delegates invariably greatly value and enjoy this course: feedback from those who did is available – over 100% of delegates in the last 10 years gave the course the highest recommendation! Independent feedback is on our website.

Suitability

These courses are not just for lawyers – in fact usually 25% of those attending LSM courses are non-lawyers. We have had judges, parliamentarians, diplomats, soldiers, bankers, accountants, insolvency practitioners, constructions managers, insurers, fund-managers, assessors, international peace-keepers, police, and pilots – all on one recent course.

“...an outstanding experience with wonderful tutors...”

The Course Leaders

Judith Kelbie                      Solicitor of the Supreme Court and Mediator

Judith is a highly successful mediator with an international reputation. She was a peer-elected independent mediator on the Board of the Civil Mediation Council for six years and Chair of the Standards and Accreditation Committee with Sir Henry Brooke. As a Mediator, she has an exceptional reputation having completed many hundreds of mediations. She has led or taught over a hundred mediation courses worldwide. Having addressed the OSCE in Warsaw and the European Conference in Paris, Judith has an exceptional knowledge of training and accreditation issues, and has trained students from New Zealand to Newcastle, Ireland to India, Cambridge to Cayman. Judith is the founder and director of LSM.

Tessa Herman                      Solicitor of the Supreme Court and Mediator

Tessa is an experienced mediator, mediating civil, commercial and workplace disputes. She is a director of LSM and has been delivering mediation training and coaching with LSM for a number of years both in the UK and internationally. Tessa is a highly experienced personal injury solicitor having spent over 20 years conducting high value catastrophic injury claims with a renowned UK law firm and through her own consultancy practice. She is passionate about mediation and enjoys sharing this passion through her training of new mediators.

Dr Raj                                      LSM Alumni, course co-ordinator and tutor

Dr Raj completed her mediator training with LSM and immediately saw the opportunity for India to develop mediation practice. Dr Raj undertakes corporate, commercial and property disputes. She is a Registered Advocate in Bar Council of Delhi India and a Mediator. A company director herself, Dr Raj knows the mechanics of business, deal-making and negotiation.
